

Chapter Twelve Pictures of New Canadians: An Immigration Story for Our Time

Photographs of newcomers have told a story of Jewish Canadian identity, and of Canadians' view of immigrants, for a century.

Norman Ravvin writes and teaches in Montreal. For thirteen years he directed Concordia University's Institute for Canadian Jewish Studies in the Department of Religions and Cultures.

Learn more in No Better Home?: Jews, Canada, and the Sense of Belonging, edited by David S. Koffman, a volume of essays by leading scholars that explores the many meanings of "home."
