foreword

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute has experienced remarkable growth and change over the last two years. With our enrollments nearly doubled, it is clear that Women's Studies has emerged as an academic path that is more attractive than ever.

And we are strongly meeting the challenge of that growth: as award-winning teachers and scholars, our full-time and part-time faculty are serving as key mentors to Concordia students both inside and outside the Institute. At the same time, we are experimenting with new forms of course offerings and university-wide collaborations including: a new Social Justice stream as part of the Workshops on Social Science Research (WSSR) (Summer 2017); a new week-long Simone de Beauvoir Summer Institute (May 2017); a new 6-credit social action research course ("The Feminist University Seminar") focused on transformative projects within and outside the university (2017-2018); and new collaborations with Pride Montreal (2017-2018).

We are excited to bring new and fresh ideas that include the involvement of so many groups such as WSSA, Research Associates and Fellows and people from the community.

Over the past two years, the SdBI has supported or initiated over 40 events including conferences, workshops, lectures, screenings and publication launches. These events have unquestionably raised many fruitful discussions, critical thoughts and ideas, and strengthened community ties.

Some reoccurring themes in the Institutes' programming have included: dialogue around HIV/AIDS, feminist experiences of immigration and diaspora, the lived experiences of Muslim women, feminist activism in Israel and Palestine, and Indigenous perspectives and resistance. The success of this programming is a result of the critical thinking, enthusiasm, and consideration of the members of the Forum Committee, as well as the support of SdBI staff, students, and faculty.

On the administrative front, Linda Bowes' position has been upgraded from Programme Secretary to Assistant to the Chair. Her duties still include helping students and faculty, but also involve directly helping the Principal with day-to-day tasks. With the support of the university, we look forward to adding more staff and moving to a larger and more accessible space within the next two years.

In solidarity,

- Dr. Kimberley Manning (Principal),
Belinda Bowes (Assistant to the Chair & Academic Advisor)
& Julia Dyck (Communicaitons and Events Coordinator)

Simone's Library and Learning Centre

The Learning Centre is the new name for what used to be called Simone's Library (aka the Reading Room). The Centre still hosts a unique feminist book collection but also offers a range of services geared toward student success in university. The Centre also provides a quiet study space. We have a part-time librarian to help students find and locate resources, analyze their readings, and think critically about feminism. It is the second year in a row that we are participating in the practicum program at McGill University's School of Information Study. The selected student works for 100 hours during the winter semester on a specific project that benefits the Centre. This year, Alanah Seaton organized the new online catalogue on the interactive platform Library Thing.

We also have student volunteers that can help anyone discover the services offered at the Learning Centre. I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to these volunteers for their exceptional dedication and hard work. Thank you: Holliday, Diana, Eleonore and Kendra.

-Isabelle Lamoureux
SdBI Documentalist

Simone's Library and Learning Centre was featured as one of Concordia's superb study spots at Concordia University in April of 2017!

Schedule

- Monday to Thursday 11am to 6pm fall and winter semester
- 20 hours per week by Librarian and 8 hours per week by volunteers.
- The centre is closed during the winter and summer holiday
- We are opened during the Reading Week of February.

Services

- Administrate and provide one-on-one reference services to students; especially on specialized feminist topics.
- Assist students in all matters pertaining to their assignments and research papers by teaching research methods and academic paper structure, including research ethics and citation styles.
- Advise students and faculty on discovering, accessing, and using effectively the full range of library and information resources available to meet teaching, learning and research needs.
- Create and conduct workshops in information literacy/skills training programs for students.
- Promote the library's services and prepare outreach projects to facilitate research
- Special services:
 - Syllabus & reserved materials: Simone de Beauvoir professors and part-time professors have put their syllabus and their readings on reserve (±40 books on reserved per year). On reserve books can be borrowed for one week (instead of 3 weeks). The syllabus cannot be borrowed (reference only).
- New: As of fall 2016 we recommend that Simone de Beauvoir Institute professors include a statement in their syllabus about the learning Centre services.

Special Events

2016-2017:

New online catalogue: The practicum student, Alanah Seaton, catalogued the feminist collection onto the new platform called: Library Thing. The Learning Centre is now part of the Library Thing community; an interactive catalogue to showcase our feminist collection.

Library Thing Workshop: The March 31st workshop was on Library Thing know-how and a pilot-test to verify the capacities of the new catalogue; presented by practicum student Alanah Seaton. It was attended by a dozen students including the volunteers. (Budget: $150)

The new catalogue will be active has of fall 2017 (cost: $25 lifetime subscription)

2015-2016:

Posters: The practicum student Nina Maness created the new "Simone's Learning Centre" poster and another poster advertising our free tea station "Drink tea with old friends". It was part of our advertising campaign.

The zine workshop: The Zine workshop was a 30 person event on how to make mini zine with guest artist Clara Bee Lavery. The workshop was part of Nina Maness practicum. (Budget: 250$)

Donations

A special thank you and congratulation to Dr. Gada Mahrouse for donating her new book, Conflicted Commitments: race, privilege, and power in transnational solidarity activism.

A special thank you to Dr. Genevieve Rail for donating books' on Sport and Feminism and a DVD on women and disabilities titled: "Cerveaux Mouillés d'Orages".

Chief Justice Beverley McLachlin was awarded the inaugural Simone de Beauvoir Prize!

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute Prize, which recognizes women who are building a world dedicated to gender equality and social justice, was awarded to Chief Justice Beverley McLachlin in March of 2017. As the longest serving chief justice in Canada's history, McLachlin has ruled on cases that have reshaped key societal issues, including Indigenous rights, sex work and assisted suicide.

C-FAR

Critical Feminist Activism in Research

The C-FAR (Critical Feminist Activism in Research) project out the SdBI is a community-building, research and training initiative emerging from an intersectional feminist framework anchored in anti-racist and anti-oppressive approaches to equity, inclusion and representation on campus and across communities. C-FAR is a project that welcomes everyone while appreciating that the issues that we face, the concerns and values that we have, and our visions for our many futures, are particular, varied and oftentimes untranslatable. C-FAR does not strive for a united transformation of Concordia into one singular feminist collective or community, we rather hope to foster various networks of support and resources to promote a multi-directional series of intersectional feminist projects of different scales, with different goals, each addressing its own particular needs with its own potential for transformative power at an institutional and systemic level. In speaking and working with each other across our difference, we hope to begin a reimagining of how our university works and who it works for in order to foster a non-binary learning space that is intentionally inclusive and accessible, anti-racist and anti-colonial, one that is getting closer to that better-world we are thinking about, working towards and hoping for.

C-FAR co-coordinators, Annick MF, Meghan Gagliardi, and Finn Purcell have organized numerous events over the 2016/17 academic year.

Lillian Robinson Scholars

A feminist scholar whose career spanned over 35 years, Dr. Lillian Robinson was Principal of the Simone de Beauvoir Institute from 2000 to 2006. She was widely recognized as one of the leading feminist theorists of the twentieth century, and her essays and books have inspired feminist scholarship around the world. Thanks to a generous donation from the Renée B. Fisher Foundation and the work and vision of the Foundation Board Member Dr. Shelly Fisher Fishkin from Stanford University, the Simone de Beauvoir Institute has created a visiting scholars program as a living memorial to Lillian Robinson.

The Lillian Robinson Scholar Program is designed to attract distinguished visiting scholars working on a range of feminist research topics to the Simone de Beauvoir Institute. The program supports stays of varying lengths for scholars with a PhD. The program provides a small stipend of $1000. Four Lillian Robinson Scholars visited our Institute in the last two years.

"My stay at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute was a tonic to mind and soul. Each day the news brings another reminder of how much we need engaged feminist scholarship but we have so few dedicated sites that bring academics and activists together. Thank you SDBI and the Lillian Robinson visiting scholar award for this opportunity"

Public Positions

From time to time, the SdBI gets directly involved in debates and takes a public position. This practice has allowed us to distinguish ourselves as respected experts in number of feminist fields and, as such, we have been solicited to provide a feminist perspective on important debates.

Please find on our next page summaries of these public responses and do not hesitate to contact us to show your support!

On February 17, 2016, representatives of the Students, Faculty, Staff, Fellows, and Research Associates of the Simone de Beauvoir Institute voted in unanimous support to endorse the call by Palestinian civil society for Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS) of economic, military, academic and cultural entities and projects sponsored by the state of Israel. In doing so, we join the growing grassroots international consensus and add our voices to a large number of academic associations and entities that adopted similar resolutions in recent years.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute recognizes that the issue of BDS raises many questions, and sparks heated debate. As feminist educators and students, we promote open dialogue and an educational approach to understanding the issues.

The full statement and an outline of some of the key tenets of the resolution and their implications, as well as a list of resources for further reading, can be found on our website:

Simone de Beauvoir Institute's Statement of Feminist Solidarity with the Palestinian Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions \(BDS\) Movement

On June 6, 2016, Concordia Professor Dr. Homa Hoodfar was arrested and held in Iran's notorious Evin prison on ambiguous charges including "dabbling in feminism". In September of the same year the SdBI held a press conference calling for the Canadian government to work with every tool at its disposal to ensure Prof. Hoodfar's immediate release from prison and her return to Canada.

Dr. Homa Hoodfar was released and returned to Canada on September 26, 2016
